You're not the only one asking these awkward questions...

I just found out I have cancer...
WTF do I do now?!

My friends are on spring break while I'm stuck at the hospital. How can I feel less lonely?

Am I supposed to tell my Tinder date that I have cancer?

So like...can I still have sex?

I've got $30,000 of student debt. How will I pay my medical bills?

My treatment is keeping me from my job. What if I get fired? Is that even legal?

My doctor just told me that I have cancer. How will I take care of my little kids?

How can I concentrate on my lectures when I've got chemo brain?
